Adam, Mrs. Reynolds, and Gregory.

Mr. Reynolds running the school

"Girls, there is no reason to have a messy school."

NATHAN O. REYNOLDS, HEADMASTER

"This the time of leave-taking, a time of joy and doubt, a time to look ahead, to speak of the future.

Some of what you bring to that future is captured here in this book: surface images that reflect the excitement, the happy frivolity of time spent trying to catch the wind. Here too are memories of those moments of exhilaration and joy, of desperation and self-revelation--the substantial fabric of your school-girl days. I hope that from your teachers and your school you have gained a genuine faith in yourselves, an abiding respect for the workings of an ordered and contained mind, the will and courage to seek that quality of personal fulfillment which will bring you happiness and continued hope to the whole human enterprise.

You leave here having earned the respect and admiration of us all and carry with you our best hopes and abiding concern."

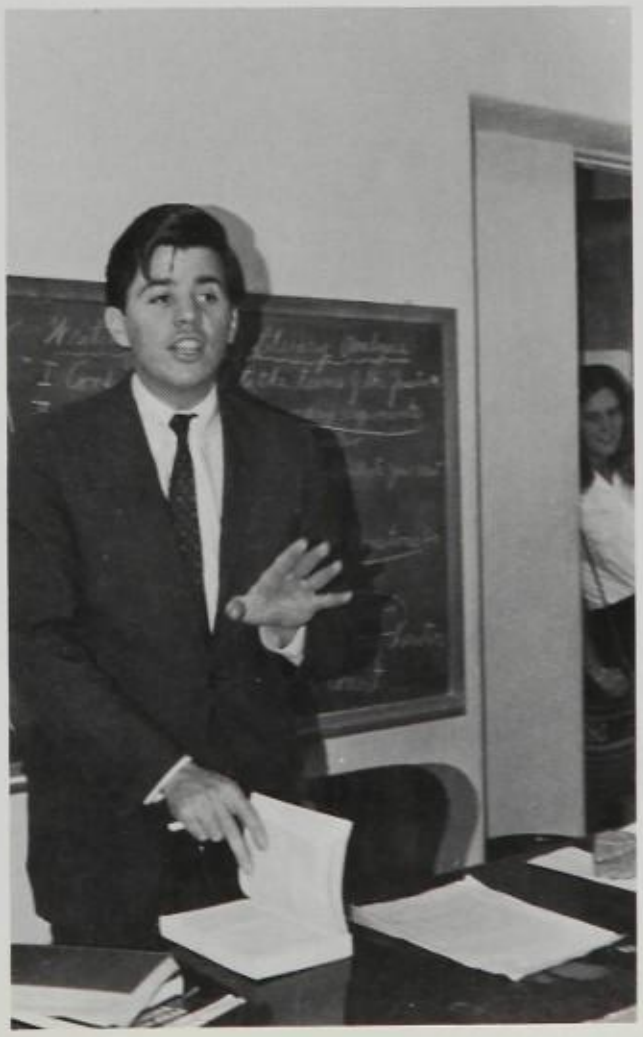
We've constructed a little person.

Is Moby Dick ethical?



Okay, chicks . . .

GWEN FIELD, STUDENT BODY PRESIDENT.

The year succeeded because we wanted it to. When we were crying with each other, when we were laughing together, when we suffered through unfinished buildings and incomplete clothes, we were near to one another; we were the essence of our school.

We established new programs this year: understood honor, the Student Body Budget, Friday assemblies, and 7th Period activities. We adjusted to cramped facilities, and we experimented with ideas. The year saw a revision of old projects, the Honor Court and the Charity Committee, and the introduction of new ones, the Discipline Committee and Town-Hall meetings. We survived and somewhere, we benefited.

I thank you all. I thank the Faculty, Miss Fass and Mr. Reynolds, the Alumnae Association, and the Mothers' Club. Thank you for aiding, advising, and encouraging those of us on Council to achieve a fulfilling community at Westlake. We played together triumphantly, and we studied together thoughtfully.

With all the smiles I can render and a few tears, also, good-bye.

DEDICATION

A vital person at Westlake school is Miss Lu Bredlow. As head of the English Department, teacher and counselor for the seventh grade, and advisor for the Vox staff, she handles each job, no matter how time consuming, with diligence and sincere dedication. She is also active in countless community projects, notably the Destination 90 Program encompassing smog control, conservation and recreational facilities in the San Fernando Valley.

To the class of 1968, Miss Bredlow is a special friend. Our English teacher for two years, she demonstrated a faith in our ability that has significantly aided our development. Despite her many other concerns, she continues to care about the welfare of our class. With the hope of showing our appreciation for her constant warmth and understanding, we have dedicated this yearbook to her.

Thank you, Miss Bredlow, from the class of '68.

Lu Bredlow

"Tears and fears and feeling proud,
To say I love you right out loud.
Dreams and schemes and circus crowds,
I've looked at life that way.
But now friends are acting strange,
They shake their heads; they say I've changed.
For something's lost, but something's gained,
In living every day.
I've looked at life from both sides now,
From win and lose and still somehow,
It's life's illusions I recall,
I really don't know life at all."
